PROJECTS

BiteSized | React.js, Node.js, Express.js, MongoDB

- Developed a full-stack nutrition tracking platform using React.js, Node.js and Express.js, exposing RESTful APIs for user, meal and nutrition management.
- Designed backend services using service-oriented architecture principles with MongoDB/Mongoose for persistent data storage.
- Implemented optimized data retrieval and query operations for nutrition records and user-specific dashboard information.
- Applied scalable architecture, reliability and performance optimization principle to backend API design.

Future Me-AI Personal Reflection Web Application

- Developed an AI-Powered personal reflection web application that creates an Interactive dialogue between users and their future selves.
- Built a Premium, responsive interface with react.js, and Tailwind CSS, including an onboarding flow, reflection form, AI generation State Results dashboard, and contextual chat.
- Implemented structured AI-generated outputs including identity insights, actionable strategies, warning signals, daily mantras, and keystone habits.
- Added contextual follow-up conversations that preserve the user's original reflection data.
